

Thank you for your participation in the DeflNe trial! Recruitment for this trial will finish at the end of August 2026. This means that no new people will join the trial after this date, but this does not affect your participation. Please spread the word about recruitment to this important trial. The more people that take part in the trial, the better we will be able to assess the effect of Deferiprone. The research cannot happen without you! Please encourage family and friends to get in touch using the contact details on this bulletin if they would like more information.

THANK YOU

If any family or friends are interested in taking part in the trial but do not have a genetic diagnosis of neuroferritinopathy, we can assist with the genetic testing process. Please ask them to get in touch with us for more information. Expressing an interest at this stage will not commit them to taking part. It is important to say that we cannot guarantee anyone would be eligible for the trial, even if genetic test results showed they did have neuroferritinopathy. We recommend that anyone who is considering genetic testing makes this decision irrespective of the trial.
